Q1)

ITA 0319

CONCEPT MAPPING

MOBILE COMPUTING

Computing that enables access, communication and services anytime, anywhere using mobile device

WIRELESS COMMUNICATION

Provides the network infrastructure for data exchange between mobile devices and other systems.

ENABLES

Provides the connectivity that makes mobility possible and keeps devices online while moving.

MOBILITY

Allows users and devices to move freely while maintaining connection and access to services.

REQUIRES

Enables users to access services and data from different locations and networks.

PORTABILITY

Provides lightweight, compact & easy-to-carry devices, making mobility practical and convenient.

SUPPORTS

Makes mobile devices practical and user-friendly so mobility can be experienced easily.

UBIQUITOUS COMPUTING

Extends computing services across various devices and environments anytime and anywhere.

IS ACHIEVED THROUGH

Combines mobility, portability & wireless communication to deliver seamless, always available computing services.

- AMRITA ANAIKUMAR, 19247103S